

Frank Striani

Height: 5 feet 10 inches

Hair color: Black

Eye color: Blue

Age: 30 - 32

Background:

Frank Striani is a former detective for the New York City police department. While on the job, he came across something that couldn't be explained by normal means or any science at the time, and it shook him to his core. After attempting to track down clues and possible suspects, Frank was let go from the department for being obsessed with the case. Since then, he has hired himself out as a private investigator, specifically searching out the strange and macabre in New York City, hoping to find some clues to that cold case. What he's found, is a whole world within the one he lived in, with a deeper history than he ever realized.

Style:

Frank is not a wealthy man, but having been a detective for a few years, he's got a wardrobe that helps him look the part. Suits and coats help him keep warm in the Big Apple, but also look professional when asking questions. The occasional hat can be found on his head, but he's just as comfortable without one if he leaves the office without. And no matter the weather, Frank always has his trusty Colt Official Police .38 caliber revolver, and sometimes a Remington Model 17 pump action shotgun.

Physical:

Frank is a former police detective, so he's fit enough to pass fitness tests, but he's not in superhero shape. Working out was not really a thing in those days so he wouldn't be burly or muscular, but athletic. It's clear he has substance to him, but he's not going to clear a room with his presence. His eyes show a sharpness in them that indicate a keen mind. Charm comes easy to him as he's attractive, but not a movie star. A strong jaw and a prominent nose would be the first thing someone notices, but he knows how to work a suspect whether he's interrogating or cleverly getting them to reveal information he needs. He would be clean shaven, except for a small pencil moustache that was in style for the time.
